What did she become? – She became a General in the army of Queen Victoria.

What else did she do? – She was also part of the medical staff as a surgeon and even became the General Inspector of the hospitals.

When did they find out she was a woman? – Only when she died.

Why do you think that she had to lie about her identity? – I think she wanted to be part of the army and work as a surgeon, but women cannot do that at that time.
